The SFA Music Preparatory Division offers harp instruction to children and adults. Alison Read was the first harp teacher for Music Prep. Alison taught from 1999 until 2006. She was the pioneer for harp students in the East Texas area and was harp teacher for the School of Music also. Mollie Marcuson taught for the SFA School of Music and Music Preparatory Division since 2006 and is on sabbatical. Mollie continued to inspire students in their harp studies. Sarah Oliver taught during the 2010-2011 school year.

Emily Mitchell comes to teach in the Music Preparatory Division in the fall of 2011. Ms. Mitchell is acknowledged as a brilliant musician with the best sound around. She has been profiled on The Today Show, Good Morning America, CNN, BBC, National Public Radio’s Performance Today and People Magazine. A graduate of the Eastman School of Music and an Associate of the Royal College of Music, London, Ms. Mitchell won the coveted First Prize at the prestigious Seventh International Harp Contest in Jerusalem. We welcome Ms. Mitchell to share her talent and expertise with our students.

The university purchased four troubadour harps for students to use for practice and for lessons. An Aoyama Amphion Grand Pedal Harp, a Lyon & Healy Concert Grand Harp, Style 85 and a Lyon & Healy Troubadour V Harp purchased with funds donated by Ed and Gwen Cole, is available for lessons, recitals and concerts. A special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Cole for their generosity and spirit in making a pedal harp available to harp students.
